Dear news professionals,

Missoula's Crisis Intervention Team is marking seven years of growth and success in improving community responses to mental health crises. This month, the program migrates from the Missoula Fire Department to the Missoula Police Department. The move will further help integrate crisis-intervention services with law enforcement. More than 50 Missoula police officers have received CIT training.

Program manager Theresa Williams is available today for interviews, as is Poverello Center shelter manager Clair Bopp and leadership of the Missoula Police Department. See our attached news release for complete information and contact information.
