Stacy Rye stated she was informed by Pam and the City Clerk that the audio from the first interviews are available on the website and the audio from the second set of interviews will be available on the website later today. The answers to the written questions will also be on the front page of the city website. MCAT will re-run the committee meetings a couple of times throughout the week.

Ms. Marler asked Ms. Rye to review the process of how it will work at Monday's meeting. Ms. Rye stated the process on Monday night is they will take nominations from any of the council members for any of the candidates they have interviewed.

Jim Nugent, City Attorney, suggested everyone read Rule 32 of the City Council Rules. The final paragraph states the council cannot nominate anyone who they did not interview unless after the second round of voting ends in a stale mate. The votes have to be identical.

Ms. Rye stated any council member can nominate a candidate by last name in the first couple of rounds and the council will vote on who they would like to see in the position.

Bob Jaffe clarified four names are nominated and the council goes around to say who they vote for then they tally the votes.

Ed Childers asked if there might be a short suspension or recess between rounds of voting assuming the first vote doesn't produce a clear winner of six council votes. Ms. Rye stated she is thankful she will not be running the Monday night meeting and the recess would be up to the Mayor.

Ed Childers asked the city attorney assuming they have a suspension in the meeting, how astringent is the open meeting laws if they would like to discuss possible alternatives during the recess. Mr. Nugent stated he believes the public expectation would be to have discussions during the meeting. City council rule does not prohibit recesses. The public has the right to know the reasons so he urged the council to keep it as public as possible.

Ed Childers asked about the public participation in the process, the council always asks for public comment. Is the council still required to ask for public comment due to this being strictly a city council decision? Mr. Nugent stated the council could ask for public comment before the nominations. The public can participate now by sending in emails or letters.

Jon Wilkins stated he has noticed some of the public have sent in emails and called. He would appreciate if members not get out of hand and asks for it to be a civil process.

Renee Mitchell asked if four names were nominated and one person does not get any votes, does their name remain for future votes. Mr. Nugent stated there is nothing in Rule 32 that explains removing any names so every name nominated remains until two rounds of votes with the identical outcome happens then they can open it up to new nominations and include those who were not interviewed or applied.

Stacy Rye stated she was unaware of the nominations staying on the table. Mr. Nugent responded by saying there is nothing in the rules to remove any names.

Pam Walzer asked if they are able to debate on the floor for any of the nominations. Ms. Rye stated they can make their case for who they are nominating.

Ms. Rye asked Mr. Nugent if the council can nominate other candidates for the second or third rounds. Mr. Nugent stated in rule 32 in specifically says no new nominations can be made unless there are two successive roll call votes where votes cast were identical each time.
